Although I have been a bit lax in the last few days due to burdensome commitments and other assorted and sundry prevailing winds, I will make an extra effort to be aboard tonight and saturday night for the BA/GB net.

Hope a few of us can make it at the appointed hours. Bring along whatever botteburner you can muster up, at whatever QRQ you may happen to want to run. If 80M stays noisy, drop up to that shorter wave of 40 meters and keep on burning holes in the ether. 7051khz is not too bad a QRG this time of year.

I have been trying to get rid of these tubes. No reasonable or even unreasonable offer refused. The list is attached.

what am I offered in Trade, or, if for lack of trade items, ....gulp...cash for it?
